POETRY.

THE VOICE OF THE PESTILENCE.

The following poem, written as long ago as 1831, on the approach of the great cholera epidemic of 1832, is once more, we fear, appropriate.

Breathless the course of the pale White Horse Bearing the ghastly Form— Rapid and dark as the spectre bark When it sweeps before the storm! Balefully bright, through the torrid night, Easanguined meteors glare— Stream on the sulphurous air!

Shades of slain through the murderer's brain Flit terrible and drear: Shadowy and swift the black storm drift Doth trample the atmosphere! But swifter than all, with a darker pall Of terror around my path, I have risen from my lampless prison— Slave of the high God's wrath!

A deep voice went from the Firmament, And it pierced the caves of Earth— Therefore I came, on my wings of flame, From the dark place of my birth! And it said: "Go from the South to the North Over yonder wandering ball— Sin is the King of that doomed Thing, And the sin-beguided must fall!"

From the Gate of the Uncreate, From the portals of the abyss, From caverns dim, where vague Forms swim, And shapeless Chaos is! From Hades womb—from the joyous tomb Of Erebus and Old Night— From the unseen deep where Death and Sleep Brood in their mystic might— I come!—I come!—before me are dumb The nations, aghast for dread— Lo! I have passed like a desert blast— And the millions of Earth lie dead!

A voice of fear from the hemisphere Tracteth me where I fly— Earth weeping aloud for her widowhood— A wild and desolate cry. Thrones and dominions beneath my pinions— Cower like the meaneast things. Melt from my presence the pride and pleasure Of pallor-stricken kings! Sorrow and mourning supremely scorning, My soul is the boundless air— My chosen shroud is the dark plumed cloud Which the whirling breezes bear!

Was I not borne on the wings of the morn From the jungles of Jessor, Over the plain of the purple main, To the far Mauritania shore? To the isles that sleep on the sun-bright deep Of a coral paved sea; Where blue waves water beneath the shelter Of Heaven's serenity?

From the womb of the waters, athirst for slaughter, I rose that thirst to sate. These green isles are graves in the waste of waves. Their beauty is desolate! From the wide Erythraean noise of my pean Rolled on the Southern blast; Eternal Taurus made answering chorus— From the glaciers lone and vast. Did I not pass over granite mass, And ridged Caucasian hill— Over burning sands—over frost chained lands Borne at my own wild will?

Then hark to the beat of my hastening feet, Thine shrined in the sea— Where are thy dreams that the ocean streams Would be safety unto thee? Awake! Awake! My wings are shaken— Athwart the troubled sky— Streams the red glance of my meteor lance And the glare of mine eager eye! Hearken, oh hearken! my coming shall darken The light of thy festive cheer: In thy storm-tossed home on the briny foam, Nursing of Ocean—hear!

HAVE RELIGION FOR YOURSELVES! There is an old tale, which though idle in itself, the use may be good. A certain man, who would never go to church when he heard the saints' bell, would say to his wife: "Go thou to church and pray for thee and me." One night he dreamed that both he and his wife were dead, and that they knocked together at heaven's gate for entrance. St. Peter (by the legend) is the porter, and suffered the wife to enter in; but kept the husband out, answering him: "She is gone in both for herself and thee. As thy wife went to church for thee, so she must go to heaven for thee." The moral instructs every one to have a personality of faith and a propriety of devotion; that himself serving God, himself may be blessed of God.

LONG ARTICLES.—A California editor some time ago, received a long document which he was requested to "put under his editorial head." He complied by placing it under his pillow, and expressed his determination to serve similar communications in the same way. If contributors knew how an "editorial head" is made to ache while wading through a wordy wilderness of thought, and trying to reconstruct sentences, blivindly written or poorly put, they would spend more time in elaborating their articles. One editor condensed an obituary notice containing six hundred words into sixty, and kept every essential fact.—Home Monthly.

NASBY.

WHITTIER AND COLVER.

BY REV. W. CLARK.

Rev. Nathaniel Colver is an eccentric Baptist preacher, and John Greenleaf Whittier is the Quaker poet, both of New England, one of Boston and the other of Amesbury. The preacher is a large, full, bold, upstanding, fearless, energetic man, with a proportionally small, round face, short stiff, grey hair, and little keen black eyes. The poet is a thin, spare man, rather tall, a little stooping, dark complexioned, with a frank, open countenance, high forehead, black hair, dark heavy eyebrows, and sharp piercing black eyes.

The preacher possessing language large, and never wanting in ability or disposition to use it; the other a quiet, unassuming, Quaker-like personage, never "moved by the spirit" or the entreaties of his friends to "speak in public," or to take unto himself a wife.

Once upon a time, some moons ago, our preacher found himself on a Saturday night, in the quiet village of Amesbury, the residence of our Quaker poet; and being invited, spent the night and the First Day that followed, at the quiet "Home of the aunes." While at breakfast Sunday morning, the man of poetry said to the man of prose:

"Well, friend Colver, art thou going to the Quaker meeting with me today?"

"Yes, I think I will," was the reply. "But who preaches there today?"

"That depends on whom 'the spirit' moves," replied the Quaker.

"What if the spirit should move me to preach to your people?" said the Baptist.

"They might serve you as they did Beach."

"What did they do to Beach?"

"They put him in prison for disturbing a religious meeting on Sunday," replied the Quaker.

THE PLOT THICKENING.

We were much impressed by an article in the Detroit Post, entitled "The New Plot." Being too long for our columns, we give it in a condensed form:

"The first step in this plot is to dislodge the President far enough to induce him to play into the hands of the conspirators; and to this end he is plied by every artifice of flattery, every wile of seduction, and every promise of future grandeur."

The rebel leaders see their great mistake in attempting to divide the Union; they propose to avoid this mistake, and under the garb of "restoration" to conquer the North and unite the two sections upon the plan of the Southern Confederacy. Seeing their former fatal mistake in basing the previous attempt upon Slavery, they propose to give that a temporary go by until the power is attained, when they will re-establish it. Hence they acquiesce in the nominal freedom of the slave, while they zealously work for the restoration of a white man's government. What such a government at the South means, every soldier knows. The Richmond Whig calls upon the President to call a Congress composed of members from all the States, the moment this adjourns. The northern Congressmen refusing to attend, or even if they should attend, this Johnsonian Congress is to organize and admit the rebel Congressmen, declaring the Radical Congress revolutionary, and a Congress composed of the ex-rebels and Northern Copperheads the Congress sustained by Executive authority. The Whig expects the Radical Congress to sustain itself by force of arms, which it would most assuredly do, and in this case the President would be prepared to meet force with force. The Charleston News and the Richmond Enquirer reiterates the same thing. The Northern Democratic papers are seeking to persuade the followers that the present Congress is not a legal body and should be dispersed, if need be, by the point of the bayonet. Our contemporary (Sentinel) claims to be the originator of the policy now adopted by the leading Democratic organs. It is fashionable with these papers to style Congress the "Rump Congress." The Democratic Press is uniting with their Southern allies in stirring up the embers of civil war. Says the Free Press:

"Can it be that this country has so incurred the displeasure of the Almighty that twice within a decade we are to raise our hands in strife against each other? We fear it!"

In its issue of April 8th it was still more explicit, saying:

"We care but very little as to the action on the Civil Rights bill, but we dread the too palpable drift, under radicalism, into a civil war. It will come unless they are checked, and they will hasten it in order to prevent the people from realizing their danger."

The Washington Constitutional Union says:

"The programme of the present Radical Congress, will, if carried out, revise the horrors of the past, and send the angel of death into every home in the land."

At a supper given to James Brooks, in N. Y. city, by the Manhattan Club, of which Andrew Johnson is a voluntary and honorary member, August Belmont, the chief of the Democratic party during the McClellan campaign, made use of the following language:

"We will send him back again in November to a Congress which will be worthy of his presence, in which all parts of the country will be represented." [Great applause.]

The Post thus sums up:

Every man who reads well knows that in the work of educating the people to believe that Congress is a revolutionary body that ought to be resisted and put down, so as to prepare the people for the contemplated coup d'état, and also in the work of preparing and urging forward the President to bring on a direct collision with Congress, so that force of arms may decide the contest, the "Democratic" organs and leaders, North and South, are putting forth every exertion. It is they who gain the country is hurried into a new and yet more terrible civil war? What care they for fresh battle fields, more national debt, and new mourning and desolation in the land, if only, under the pretense of "restoration" they can seize upon power, re-establish Slavery, revive State sovereignty, and again control the destinies of the Republic in the interest of Southern treason or Northern copperheadism?

The great Democratic party threatens to back out. Says a correspondent of the N. Y. Tribune:

"Vallandigham called on Thad. Stevens the other day, and in the course of conversation stated that if the President did not immediately begin to appoint Democrats to office, he could not retain the adherence of a single Democrat three weeks longer."

PRESIDENT'S SPEECH TO THE COLORED PEOPLE.

If he had stopped at the close of the first sentence he would have hit the nail on the head:

"My colored friends," said he, "I have nothing more to say to you than to thank you for the compliment you have paid me in presenting yourselves before me on this your day of celebration."

He had nothing more to say, but still talked on, boasting in the most unmeasured, egotistical style of what he had done for them. He had promised to be their Moses, he might have said, and became their Pharaoh. As loyal men, they wanted protection against their rebel ex-masters. Congress and the nation stood ready to give it. He vetoed it. The colored men of this country have had enough of such protectors. It is very fashionable for pro-slavery men to be better friends of the slave than antislavery men. But men must invariably be judged by their fruits. Have the copperheads sent missionaries south to educate the freedmen? When any of Andrew Johnson's friends do this, we will make an item of it in their favor.

READY FOR A FIGHT.

We happen to be an Inspector of Election, and intend to carry out our State law as we are sworn to do. For so doing, this penalty, which would be absolute ruin to us hangs over our heads. What may happen before next election we know not. But if alive we shall do our duty, and if interfered with in the discharge of it by the minions of federal authority, under this law, we shall fight.—Sentinel.

Can it be that our peaceful copperhead contemporary, after he has written so many diatribes on "peace," is at last ready to fight? He wants to make some of his ignorant readers believe that the Civil Rights bill enfranchises the colored man, and to make a parade of his courage, in case a colored man offers his vote, he as an Inspector will refuse it, and if enforced he will fight! We trust that, armed by constitutional right, the intelligent colored voter will ere long put his courage to the test. "We shall fight." Wait and see. If he is not the first to run we miss our guess. And a poor chance he will have to act as Inspector when our soldiers, those who have fought, whether white or black, shall control our elections.

CURRENT EVENTS.

The present is apparently a dry time for news.—The President has entered upon the war against the Radicals—removing Radical postmasters. The Radical postmaster at Pittsburgh has been removed and a relative of Gen. Wade Hampton appointed in his place. The Senate will stand firm as adamant against all such changes.—The traitor pirate Semmes has been pardoned by the President. Jeff's turn will come next.—The Emancipation celebration by the colored people in Washington was a great affair. Says a correspondent of the Detroit Post:

As President Johnson stood to see the long lines of dusky freedmen go by, he must have had strange thoughts in reading the mottoes on their banners: "Our friends in Congress, instruments in the hands of God." The people, through their representatives, have given us our rights. "Unconditional Suffrage." "None can doubt our loyalty." "Lincoln our Liberator." Turned fully towards him was the blazing motto: "With malice toward none—with charity to all" and the face of his beloved predecessor, life-like in its earnest sadness, on the canvas over these memorable words!

"Lincoln: green be the grave above thee, friend of our lonely days; none knew thee but to love thee, none knew thee but to praise." "I wish all men to be free." "Equal political rights." "Justice to all men." etc.

Sad scenes occurred on board the ship Virginia, now in quarantine at N. Y. city. The cholera is still making its ravages on board the vessel.—Brigham Young has enrolled 10,000 men. A correspondent of the Detroit Tribune says, in reference to the soldiers and sailors serenade, which called out the President's banishment speech:

"Justice to the gentlemen who tendered the serenade requires me to say that it originated with the soldiers and other friends of the President in the various departments, and was not a compliment paid by the Soldiers' and Sailors' Union of this city." This card is signed by "J. E. Doughty, Vice President."

Terrific conflagration—Detroit and Milwaukee Depot in ruins—Freight and passenger depots entirely destroyed. The steamer Windsor is burned to the water's edge. A whole passenger train is destroyed. Loss of property immense, and an appalling loss of life. Only six months since, the Central Freight House was destroyed, but here everything is swept as with the besom of destruction. It seems that an employee was rolling a barrel of Kerosene oil from one building to another. It sprung a leak. A cooper was called, and while it was being repaired, some one passed with a light. The gas from the escaping oil took fire, and an explosion followed. The burning oil running down in all directions, set fire to other barrels of kerosene. With lightning rapidity the flames reached the Freight House and Depot, and an ocean flame was seen, Freight House, Depot, Windsor, all on fire. Says a spectator:

The scene was grand beyond description. Every mast, spar, rope, and tackle of the vessels anchored along channel were most distinctly and clearly outlined against the sky. On the shore was fire; on the water fire; and on land and water both the Fire King held his revels.

The night express was just ready to start, waiting for the engine. Many of the passengers on the sleeping car had retired to rest when the startling alarm was given, but before they could all escape the car was wrapped in flames. Several were consumed, and those who escaped, barely did so. Estimated loss, $500,000.

Gold, 127 3/4.

We copy the following account of the Chicago Sabbath School Union concert under the direction of Professor Foote, of our city. The concert was repeated again on Thursday last, a large number of people being unable to get into Crosby's Opera House, the most capacious in Chicago.

From the Chicago Republican

Crosby's Opera House last evening presented a scene never before witnessed in this city, and one that will dwell in the memory of all present as one of the most delightful reminiscences in life's history.

It was the occasion of the first annual grand concert of the Chicago Sunday School Union. More than five hundred children, boys and girls, the latter predominating, assembled, and with their sweet and fresh young voices sent forth a swell of harmony as delightful to the ear as the pleasing sight was refreshing to the vision.

The house, although the weather was unpropitious, was well filled with a crowd of handsomely dressed ladies and gentlemen, who heightened the effect of the beautiful appearance of its interior decorations by their becoming toilets and happy smiles of appreciation at the performance.

The orchestral portion of the entertainment was supplied with cabinet organs and a piano, which gave fine effect to the chorus as an accompaniment. The instrumental conductor was Mr. W. J. Robjohn, and the pianist, Mr. I. C. V. Wheat. The whole concert was under the leadership of professor E. M. Foote, to whom the success of the affair is mainly attributable, and whose careful training of the young voices has secured the approbation of all who have witnessed his efforts.

The trio sung by Messrs. Foote, Wheat, and Merwin, entitled "The Bridge of Sighs," was loudly encored and exhibited a performance of voices well trained and well harmonized.

Before the closing song, Mr. Skinner, the President of the Sunday School Union, made a neat speech, in which, in warm terms, he thanked those who had kindly volunteered their assistance in the performance, mentioning in particular Professor Foote and his valuable assistants, Messrs. Wheat, and Merwin.

Empirism and Fraud.

We infallibly cure Syphilis, Gleet, Gonorrhea, Impotency, Nocturnal and Diurnal Emissions, Complaints peculiar to Females, and every form of private disease of whatever name or nature. Self-Abuse—that Curse of Modern Manhood easily and speedily cured, and every trace of its terrible effects eradicated, without detention from business. Young Men, bear this in mind that we are in possession of the secret receipts and methods of practice of Culverwell, Lallemand, Hunter, Velprey, Sen, Ricord and other great lights in modern medical science; for it is a fact of the very greatest importance and we would ask any man of average common sense, how can the thousand and on shallow pretensions of the day, with their feeble and inefficient remedies compete with us?

Unfortunate, ere trusting your health and money to heartless charlatans, at least write to Dr. Jackson, Herbert & Co., who will return you a kind, discreet and explicit answer. Ladies, write for our circular, containing full particulars. Price $1 per box.

The Mountain of Light, or Medical Protector, and Marriage Guide, and an explicit key to Love and Beauty, containing 300 pages & 100 plates. This is the book you want, price 50 cents, 3 for $1.

Send for our splendid circular, containing more in quantity and of far superior quality to any of the so-called "pamphlets."

Remember that we send a written reply to every letter, especially adapted to the particular case under consideration, because in the nature of things, each case differs from every other.

Dr. Jackson's Oriental Linctum removes all coldness and disability, and rejuvenates organs which have remained dormant for several years. Dr. Jackson's French Patent Male Safe, is perfectly safe and never fails to give satisfaction. It is the only safe and safe preventive against contracting diseases ever invented. Price $1 each, per half dozen, $4 and per dozen $7 sent by mail.

Inebriates or moderate drinkers who desire to reform, but have found it difficult to refrain can only eradicate ad desire for any kind of liquor by using Dr. Herbert's Anti Alcoholic Compound, an unfailing remedy for intemperance; write for particulars.

Medicine and instructions sent promptly to any part of the country. P. O. Box 436 Cincinnati, O.

VISITATION OF THE CHOLERA

The Young men's Christian Association of Chicago, have issued the following circular with regard to the advent of the cholera, which is to be distributed gratuitously throughout the city

There is every reason to expect it will be here by the middle of May on the 1st of June. Its victims will be principally:

1st. Those who use intoxicating drinks.

2nd. Those who are not cleanly in their persons and houses.

3d. Those who are irregular in their habits, keeping unseasonable hours, eating irregular, etc.

4th. Those living in dirty, filthy localities.

5th. Those who are not prepared to PREPARE FOR CHOLERA.

1st. Be scrupulously clean in person, bathing the whole body daily, and keeping the entire clothing clean.

2nd. Clean thoroughly, and white-wash your rooms, outhouses and premises generally.

3rd. See that no swill, garbage, or other refuse matter is thrown out either on your lot, street or alley. Clean up thoroughly your whole premises, in doors and out, and set an example of cleanliness to your neighbors.

4th. If your landlord refuses or neglects to do his duty in putting his houses and lots in proper order, report him to the health officer or our visitor in your district.

5th. Abstain from all intoxicating drinks, ale and beer, as well as whiskey.

6th. Use simple, wholesome food, thoroughly cooked, avoiding stale vegetables or tainted meats. Do not give way to fear or panic. This will increase your danger. Cholera will in most cases yield to skillful treatment if taken in its first stages. Watch the first symptom, which is usually a diarrhoea. Do not neglect it for a single hour, however mild it may be. Delays are dangerous. Avoid all nostrums and advertised "cholera medicines" (most of them will do more harm than good.) Apply at once to some reliable physician. None of our physicians will refuse their services at such a time to the poorest.

Lastly, but first in importance, prepare for it by giving your heart to the Lord Jesus Christ. Then you will be fitted for either life or death. You may not fall by cholera this summer. But death is certain to all and may come to you soon. If you are a Christian you are safe; if not you are unsafe and cannot be at peace. Be ye also ready, for in such an hour, as ye think not the Son of Man cometh."

TRICHINA.

There are three ways in which the disease may be guarded against. First, by eating no flesh that has not been thoroughly cooked. This will not be agreeable to those who prefer meat "rare done." These may adopt the second method - examining the meat with a microscope, and thus ascertaining that it is entirely free from trichina. An examination with a good magnifying glass will show the presence of the yellowish white shells in which the worms are encased; if the meat is infected. It would require no great amount of trouble to examine the flesh of each animal, and it would be much better to examine each piece purchased at the butcher's shop than to be exposed to any danger of contracting the disease.

A third preventive of the disease, certainly effectual, is to avoid using the flesh of carnivorous animals entirely. The investigations in Germany show that the trichina is confined to flesh eating animals, and almost exclusively to the hog. The manner of their reproduction would show that only flesh-eating animals could be infected. It is, perhaps, hardly that meat might become infected by contact with that which was already diseased, but total abstinence from the use of pork may be considered an absolute protection against the disease.

TRAINING CATTLE TO JUMP - A western farmer says he makes it a rule that whenever cattle are made to pass a fence, whether through bars or "slip-gate," to leave one rail for them to pass under. This gives them a downward tendency, and lessens their inclination to jump or look upwards, as they are sure to do when a lazy attendant throws down a part of the rails, and makes them vault the rest. Cattle may be learned to go over any fence, by the careful training they often get for this end, and performed as follows: First starve them, or give them poor feed, which will make them light and restless. As soon as they go over the lowest part of the fence after better provender, make them jump back again, and put on one more rail, saying, "I guess that will keep 'em out." Next day, (as of course they will be in mischief again,) repeat the process, adding another rail; in a short time they will take care of themselves, and harvest the crops without charge. - Tucker's Rural Affairs.

HORSES' FEET AND LEGS. - If I were asked to give an account for my horses' legs and feet being in better order than those of my neighbor, I should attribute it to the four following circumstances: - First, they are all shod with a few nails, so placed in the shoe as to permit the foot to expand every time they move; second, that they all live in boxes instead of stalls, and can move whenever they please; third, they spend two hours daily in walking exercise, when they are not at work; and fourth, that I have not a headstall or track chain in my stable. These four circumstances comprehend the whole mystery of keeping horses' legs fine, and their feet in sound working condition up to old age. - Miles.

A tablespoonful of saltpetre given to a cow once a day, for three or four days is an effectual remedy for garget. It can be given in a wash if the cow is hearty, or in a dough pill. So says a New York farmer.

HALL'S

Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer

As the name indicates, not only renews the growth of the hair when thin and falling off, but positively cures the color to its original shade when it is turning gray or white, whether caused by disease, grief or old age.

It will certainly do what is claimed for it, a fact to which hundreds of thousands, who have used it, are ready and willing to testify. Where one bottle is fairly used, in any community, its reputation spreads like wild fire, and is the best advertisement and recommendation we desire. In the Eastern States, where the "RENEWER" originated, the young ladies use it as a hair dressing; it is found on the toilet tables of young men, (also at their barbers), while older men and women who desire a Renewer and Restorative for their grey locks say bald heads will not be without this article, which gives in every instance, entire satisfaction.

CAUTION

Don't let any druggist or dealer sell you a different article, as there is no preparation like the Hall's Hair Renewer. Any article resembling the Hall's Hair Renewer is a cheap imitation, and will do you no good.

DR. VELPAU'S FRENCH PILLS

THE REAL VELPAU FEMALE PILL

These pills, so celebrated many years ago in Paris, for the relief of female irregularities, and afterward so notorious for their criminal employment in the practice of abortion, are now offered for sale for the first time in America. They have been kept in comparative obscurity from the fact that the originator, Dr. Velpau, is a physician in Paris of great wealth and strict conscientious principles, and has withheld them from general use, lest they should be employed for criminal purposes, in overcoming female obstructions, falling of the womb, Whites, Green Stinks, Suppression, Retention, or Immoderate Flow of the Monthly Discharges, they seem to be truly omnificent, bringing open flood-gates from whatever cause may have stopped them; but they are offered to the public only for legitimate uses, and all agents are forbidden to sell them when it is understood that the object is to cure female diseases. Ladies should never take them when there is any reason to believe themselves pregnant, for they will be sure to produce a miscarriage.

These pills are entirely safe under all circumstances, being composed of vegetable and mineral substances from the vegetable kingdom.

Each box has the coat of arms for the City of Paris stamped on the box, with the words "Trade Mark" in French, to counteract with the numerous cheap imitations which are sold with a view to deceive.

Ladies can obtain a box sealed from the eyes of the envious, by enclosing One Dollar and eight cents, in payment for any respectable druggist, or to O. G. STAPLES, General Agent for the United States, Watertown, N. Y.
